OVERVIEW

Delighting customers through outstanding service is the cornerstone of all successful businesses.

Warehouses and stores are often under-rated operations in organizations, yet they are of critical importance in providing customer service. Excellence in Warehousing is a two-module program that will demonstrate how to evaluate processes and procedures, change and improve operational methods, implement all of the essential tools for effectively managing the warehouses and stores, eliminate wasteful activities and excess costs, thus achieving excellence in warehousing.

The program will additionally provide the practical skills and information that can be taken back to the workplace so that internal problems that limit performance can then be more effectively planned, organized and controlled and then deliver reduced costs and improved service in warehouse and stores operations.

WORKSHOP METHODOLOGY

The program facilitator has extensive hands-on experience of planning, establishing and managing warehouse operations. The training methodology will include expert tutor input, delegate discussion and involvement, exercises, quizzes, case studies and supportive course manual.
